Generational Astrology – Compass and Anchor?

with

Julia Tarnawsky

What might Millennials or Gen Y's have in common, when the slow-moving outer planets in their natal charts are in the same sign of the Zodiac?

Julia will tell us about research on such a group at the Southern Lights Centre, Akaroa, to trace the similarities in their backgrounds, astrological charts and current circumstances. Their birth dates all have Neptune conjunct Uranus in Capricorn.

What can their astrology tell us about their place and contribution in society? Can it provide a “compass and anchor” for their lives?

Julia Tarnawsky is a past member of the TS in Adelaide and now New Zealand where she has given talks in many Lodges over the past seven years. She is currently a member of the TSNZ Governance Board.

Julia ran a clinical practice in psychology in Adelaide where she completed a Masters degree in esoteric psychology and a certificate in esoteric astrology in 2001. She lives and teaches with her husband Orest in the Southern Lights Centre, a meditation school at Akaroa.
